

ANTI-RAGGING AWARENESS PROGRAMME

AT GOURI DEVI INSTITUTE OF MEDICAL SCIENCES AND HOSPITAL

An Anti-Ragging Awareness Programme was organised at Gouri Devi Medical College with the aim of reinforcing the importance of a safe, respectful and inclusive campus environment.

The event commenced with insightful addresses by esteemed professors of the college, who highlighted the harmful impact of ragging and emphasised the importance of mutual respect, dignity and responsible conduct among students.

This was followed by a witty, engaging and thought-provoking skit performed by the second-year students, which explored the hierarchy of bullying and how the cycle of ragging can perpetuate itself. The performance portrayed how students who were once victims of bullying and ragging may, over time, become perpetrators themselves when they enter positions of seniority.

Through humour, relatable situations and a strong underlying message, the skit demonstrated how this cycle can continue across batches unless consciously broken. It encouraged students to recognise the impact of their actions and highlighted the importance of ending the cycle rather than passing it on.

The programme also featured an anti-ragging poster-making competition, providing students with an opportunity to communicate the message through creativity and visual storytelling.

The competition showcased the students' creativity while reinforcing the collective responsibility to create a campus environment where everyone feels safe, valued and respected

The event served as a meaningful reminder that respect and empathy should form the foundation of every student community, and that creating a ragging-free campus is a shared responsibility.
